Your Pension Savings: More Opportunities – More Choice
UAPF Invites You to Open Day

On December 2, 2026, the UAPF invites everyone to its traditional online Open Day event, themed "Your Pension Savings: More Opportunities – More Choice." During the session, Fund specialists will provide a detailed overview of recent changes to pension legislation, as well as options for managing and utilizing your pension savings.

As the Kazakhstani pension system evolves and its legal framework is refined, new opportunities are emerging for citizens to take a more active role in managing their pension savings. Contributors can, for instance, entrust all or part of their savings to private investment portfolio managers (IPMs); select investment portfolios tailored to their specific financial goals, investment horizons, and risk tolerance; enter into a pension annuity agreement with an insurance company (subject to meeting established criteria); or utilize lump-sum pension benefit payments (LSPBP) to improve their housing conditions and/or cover medical treatment costs.

To help you better navigate your pension rights and options, understand the nuances of various management tools, and make well-informed decisions, the UAPF invites you to an Open Day. During this event, the Fund's specialists will provide detailed information, clarify current regulations, and answer any questions you may have.

During the meeting, you will learn:

- what changes have been made to pension legislation to expand opportunities for citizens to participate in the management of pension assets;
- what tools are available to account holders for managing their pension savings;
- how to select an asset management company and an investment portfolio, and how to entrust your pension savings to an asset manager (IPM);
- what information is available to account holders for independent analysis when choosing an asset management company;
- what mechanisms are in place to protect pension assets;
- what a pension annuity is, who is eligible for one, and under what circumstances it can be arranged;
- under what conditions pension savings may be used to improve housing conditions and/or pay for medical treatment.

The event will be held online, allowing participants to ask questions, receive clarifications from the Fund's specialists, and obtain individual consultations. This format is particularly convenient, as it enables attendees to join from anywhere in the world and receive up-to-date information directly from experts.
